

DEPARTMENT OF COUNSELING AND EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY
INQUIRY METHODOLOGY PROGRAM

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR IN EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH METHODOLOGY – QUANTITATIVE EMPHASIS. The Inquiry faculty of the Counseling and Educational Psychology Department in the School of Education at Indiana University announces the opening of a tenure track assistant or associate professor position for an educational research methodologist with expertise in advanced quantitative methodologies and a broad and critical understanding of inquiry methodologies in educational contexts. The successful candidate is also expected to have identified a substantive area of interest in education and to have begun or established a rigorous research program with the potential for, a history of, obtaining external research funding. A commitment to teaching—both introductory and advanced research methodology and methods courses (e.g., introduction to research methodology in the social sciences, multilevel modeling, longitudinal modeling, structural equation modeling, categorical data analysis)—and to supervising graduate research studies and dissertations are of critical importance.

Located on a beautiful campus in a delightful small city, Indiana University Bloomington (IUB) offers its students, faculty, and staff a rich array of academic programs, cultural events, sports and recreational activities, and vibrant organizations both on and off campus. Combining the scientific, intellectual, and artistic resources of a world-renowned research university with the friendliness, personal attention, and supportive environment of a classic liberal arts college, IUB provides a wide range of degree-granting programs in a variety of professional fields as well as in the arts and sciences. IUB is a public-spirited place committed to academic excellence, diversity, and partnerships with other universities and colleges, PK-16 education, local communities, business and industry, government agencies, and private foundations. (For more information about IUB and the other campuses in the IU system, visit the IUB web site at <http://www.indiana.edu/> and the School of Education web site <http://www.education.indiana.edu>.)

QUALIFICATIONS. Earned doctorate in research methodology or a relevant area of specialization, and ability to work collaboratively with colleagues in the department and in the school.

APPLICATION PROCESS. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2015 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should upload to <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/1673> the following material: (1) a letter of application describing research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate transcripts, (4) two or three relevant publications or samples of scholarly writing, (5) names and contact information for three professional references and (6) relevant course evaluations. References will be contacted only after applicant has been notified. For additional information, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee: Phil Carspecken pcarspec@indiana.edu – (812) 856 – 8356 or Barbara Dennis, bkdennis@indiana.edu (812)856-8042 School of Education 4048, Indiana University 201 North Rose Avenue, Bloomington, IN 47405

The faculty of Indiana University is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and nominations of women, persons of color, applicants with disabilities, and members of other under-represented groups.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.