THE Ed.D. DOCTORAL COMMITTEE: POLICIES, PROCEDURES AND FACULTY LISTS
2015-16

♦ Must have a minimum of four members

♦ All the members must be UCLA faculty (except in specific cases and involves special permission)

♦ One member must be an Adjunct Professor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor in a department at UCLA that is not Education. The Department of Information Studies is in the Graduate School of Education & Information Studies but is a separate department.

♦ Three members must be faculty (Adjunct Professor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, Professor, Professor Emeritus or other type of full professor) in the Department of Education, UCLA

♦ Two of the four members must be any combination of Associate Professor, Professor, Professor Emeritus

♦ Only one Adjunct Professor can serve on a committee

♦ The committee chair can be a Professor Emeritus, Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor. If there are co-chairs and one chair is an Adjunct Professor, both co-chairs must be in the Education Department. A Professor Emeritus, Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor from another Department at UCLA can co-chair a doctoral committee with a Professor Emeritus, Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor from the Department of Education.

♦ The GSE&IS web site (gseis.ucla.edu/about/directory/) describes each Education and Information Studies faculty member and their interests and publications. “Find an Expert”(gseis.ucla.edu/about/find-an-expert/) describes faculty with expertise on a specific topic.

♦ The Graduate Division (UCLA) appoints doctoral committees after a student has passed the doctoral qualifying examination. Students submit the names (by email) of the members of their doctoral committees to Cathleen Gearin in the ELP Office and she does the required Nomination of Doctoral Committee Form and submits it to the Graduate Division. It generally takes several weeks to gain approval. The Preliminary Oral Exam cannot be held prior to approval of the Nomination of Doctoral Committee by the Graduate Division.
